

ABSTRACT

A method for identifying virulent strains of L. monocytogenes that includes the use of primers or probes in a PCR assay or hybridization technique that employs primers or probes, which are specific for virulence-specific genes of L.
5 monocytogenes. Also provided is a method of control of L. monocytogenes strains that have been identified using the method of the present invention.